

SBID launches CPD accreditation

After two and a half years of planning, research and assessment, the SBID accredited Continuing Professional Development (CPD) programme is now live for members and qualifying companies who wish to attend or host an event.

SBID is the only organisation which has been independently qualified and approved to regulate interior design professionals in the United Kingdom to the international standards as set by the European Council of Interior Architects (ECIA).

To serve this purpose, completing a minimum of 24 hours of CPD per year is a core requirement for membership since the launch of the organisation in 2009. This ensures that design professionals are kept up-to-date with technological advances and design techniques in an ever changing industry, whilst providing a platform to engage with experts in a forum for the exchange of ideas and best practice.

Accredited SBID CPD providers already include leading brands in all sectors of interior design.

SBID members who are also accredited CPD providers receive the added benefit of having their CPDs marketed free of charge to our extensive, exclusive database.
